@@@In this time of rising identity theft, my biggest concern right now with my credit card is the endless monthly checks that are mailed to my house. How easy is it for someone to take the mailer my credit card company sends me with these checks and fraudulently use them? I have never used a credit card check in my life, and now I'm considering cancelling my credit cards because I'm worried that someone may steal them and I'll be left paying for it, or it'll hurt MY credit score for something I never wanted to begin with!
